[AUGUST, MDCCLXX.] THE [NUMB. 247.]

SOUTH-CAROLINA AND COUNTRY GAZETTE; JOURNAL.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, both Foreign and Domeſtic.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 28, 1770.

The SPEECH of the Honourable WILLIAM BULL, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief in and over his Majeſty's Province of SOUTH-CAROLINA, to the GENERAL ASSEMBLY, on Tueſday Auguſt 14th, 1770.

Honourable Gentlemen of his Majeſty's Council,
Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the Aſſembly,

AS the preſent Time, during the warm Seaſon, is the leaſt inconvenient to your private Affairs, I thought it proper that you ſhould now meet for the Diſpatch of ſuch public Buſineſs as cannot, without ſome Diſadvantage, be poſtponed until the Winter; I ſhall therefore only recommend ſuch Matters to your Conſideration, as may demand your more immediate Attention; in particular, the permanent Appointment of a Public Treaſurer, in the Room of Jacob Motte, Eſq; deceaſed; the eſtabliſhing of Schools for the Benefit of our remote Settlements, and the encouraging the Produce of Flour and Tobacco in this Province, by ſuch Regulations as will render thoſe Articles more merchantable, and conſequently more profitable to the Planter.

Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the Aſſembly,

I recommend to you to make Proviſion for the diſcharging the Public Debts for the laſt Year.

Honourable Gentlemen of his Majeſty's Council,
Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the Aſſembly,

The Readineſs with which you have given your Attendance, whenever the Service of his Majeſty and this Province requires it, notwithſtanding any Inclemency of the Weather, leaves me no Room to doubt, but that you will enter upon Buſineſs with Alacrity, and bring it to a happy Concluſion, with all proper Diſpatch.

WILLIAM BULL.

To the Honourable WILLIAM BULL, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief in and over his Majeſty's Province of SOUTH-CAROLINA.

The Humble ADDRESS of his MAJESTY'S COUNCIL.

May it pleaſe your Honour,

WE his Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Council of this Province, return our Thanks to your Honour for your Speech delivered Yeſterday, to both Houſes of Aſſembly; and we beg Leave to aſſure you, that we ſhall pay due Attention and Regard in our Deliberations, to thoſe Matters which your Honour recommends to our immediate Attention; and ſuch is the Zeal of his Majeſty's faithful Council, that they are ready at all Seaſons, to evince their Loyalty and Duty to the King, and to promote, as far as in them lies, the true and eſſential Intereſts of this Province; and they now meet in General Aſſembly, with Hearts diſpoſed to do the Buſineſs of the preſent Seſſion with Alacrity, which they earneſtly hope will come to a happy Concluſion.

By Order of the Houſe,
OTHNIEL BEALE.

In the Upper Houſe of Aſſembly, Auguſt 15th, 1770.

His HONOUR'S ANSWER.

Honourable Gentlemen,

I Return you my ſincere Thanks for this Addreſs, which contains very acceptable Aſſurances of your continuing to act with that Zeal for the Service of his Majeſty, and the Intereſt of this Province, which I have experienced in your Behaviour on former Occaſions.

Auguſt 15th, 1770. WILLIAM BULL.

To the Honourable WILLIAM BULL, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief in and over the Province of SOUTH-CAROLINA.

The Humble ADDRESS of the COMMONS HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY of the ſaid Province.

May it pleaſe your Honour,

WE his Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly, beg Leave to return your Honour our Thanks for your Speech delivered in General Aſſembly Yeſterday.

We aſſure your Honour, that, in Conſequenence of your Meſſage of the 29th Day of January laſt, this Houſe did proceed with the greateſt Diligence and Alacrity to provide for the Public Debts, and to effect every Matter recommended to us by your laſt Speech, the Appointment of a Treaſurer alone excepted; particularly very ample Proviſion was made for the Diſcharge of the Public Debts, by a Tax Bill that this Houſe had twice read, and ſent to the Council, when your Honour was pleaſed to prorogue the General Aſſembly; and that this Houſe at the ſame Time had before them an engroſſed Bill for the Inſpection of Hemp and Flour, and for a Bounty on the latter; and alſo a Bill which had been twice read both by this Houſe and the Council, for erecting and endowing a College, and for eſtabliſhing Free-Schools in the back Settlements: So that this Houſe can incur no Cenſure for any Hardſhips or Inconveniences which have befallen the good People of this Province, for Want of thoſe Acts, or for the Trouble your Honour has been put to, of repeating Recommendations ſo juſt and reaſonable.

We aſſure your Honour, that, as this Houſe always has been, ſo we always will be, moſt ready to devote our Time and utmoſt Abilities for his Majeſty's Service, and the Good of our Conſtituents, without any Regard to the Inclemency of the Seaſon.

By Order of the Houſe,
P. MANIGAULT, Speaker.

In the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly, Auguſt 15th, 1770.

His HONOUR'S ANSWER.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen,

I Return you my hearty Thanks for this Addreſs. The Aſſurance you give me that you will always be moſt ready to devote your Time and utmoſt Abilities for his Majeſty's Service, and the Good of your Conſtituents, without any Regard to the Inclemency of the Weather, are very becoming Loyal Subjects and good Citizens, and are conſequently very acceptable to me.

Auguſt 16th, 1770. WILLIAM BULL.

LONDON, JUNE 13.

THIS morning, at nine o'clock, the trial of Mr. Woodfall, for printing the celebrated letter of Junius to the King, came on before Lord Chief Juſtice Mansfield at Guildhall, when only ſeven of the Jury impannelled appearing, five Taleſmen were made choice of. The publication being admitted, the trial laſted but a ſhort time. The pleading of counſel ended about eleven, when the judge gave a ſhort charge, and the jury withdrew, and continued ſitting when this paper went to preſs.

JUNE 14. The names of the Special-Jury, who ſat on the trial of Mr. Woodfall, yeſterday, were, William Bond, Foreman; Peter Cazalet, Alexander Peter Allen, Frederick Commerell, Herman Meyer, John Thomas, and Barrington Buggin. The five Taleſman were, William Hannard, Paul Verges, William Sibley, William Willet, and William Davis.

A circumſtantial Account of the Trial of the original Publiſher of JUNIUS'S LETTER to the King.

The letter being read, the Attorney General opened the trial with complimenting the jury, and informing them, that the letter in queſtion was totally and univerſally abhorred. He declared, he was utterly unknown to the perſons under proſecution; that he had no perſonal malice to any of them; that he had filed the information officially; that he thought it the indiſpenſible duty of his office, and therefore had ordered the papers, which contained the letter, to be brought and ſent to him as ſoon as they appeared; that he had ſelected a number of perſons to file informations againſt, as he would not proſecute any who might have large families, and little property, or who might be ruined by the proſecution, or incapable of going to the expence of defraying it. He then attempted to account for his not bringing on the original publiſher's trial firſt, giving it as his opinion, that the man who printed a libel on a Tueſday, or any enſuing day, was equally criminal with the perſon who might originally have printed it on the Monday; and informed the jury, that he had witneſſes ready to prove the buying the paper, and fix the fact of publication: He did not doubt, therefore, that they would bring the defendant in guilty; at the ſame time avoiding entering upon the ſubject matter of the letter, or giving any manner of reaſon for his filing it in the information, a falſe, ſcandalous, and ſeditious libel.

The evidences were then called, who were, Nathaniel Crowder, who ſwore he bought the paper of Mr. Woodfall's publiſhing ſervant, whom he named.

Mr. Harris, of the ſtamp-office, who proved that the duty for the advertiſements and ſtamps, were paid by Mr. Woodfall.

And a clerk of Sir John Fielding's, who being called, proved, by a receipt from Mr. Woodfall, his concern in, and for, the paper.

The publication and direction of the paper by Mr. Woodfall, being thus proved and admitted, Mr. Serjeant Glynn roſe up, and ſaid, "He agreed with Mr. Attorney General, as to the excellence of a London Jury, and doubted not the liberties of the people were ſufficiently ſafe, while there were trials by jury;" he told the jury, "That if they were of opinion, that the ſenſe put upon Junius's letter in the information, was the true ſenſe; if it was true, that it was a falſe, ſcandalous, and ſeditious libel; if they thought his client publiſhed it with a profeſſed intention, a premeditated deſign of abuſing and aſperſing the King; if the defendant meant or wiſhed to alienate the affections of his Majeſty's ſubjects; if it appeared to them, that his end in printing it was to ſtir up rebellion and commotion, as honeſt men, they ought, and undoubtedly would, bring his client in guilty; but ---if, on the contrary, the temper of the times was ſuch, that the people needed that kind of information contained in the letter, if the facts could be proved, if the acts of government, in which the King, as a part of government, was neceſſarily and virtually concerned, highly demanded public reprehenſion, and the printer publiſhed it with the truly laudable motive of informing his fellow-ſubjects; if, ſo far from containing any perſonal abuſe of the King, it was wrote with an honeſt, but guarded freedom, the author and publiſher would, by all worthy, all ſenſible men, be conſidered as having acted the parts of good ſubjects, and good citizens." He informed the jury, "That the council for the crown had not gone upon the ſubject-matter of the letter; they did not even attempt to prove it a libel, notwithſtanding the epithets beſtowed upon it in the information; and that the paper in which it was firſt printed, was not, by any means ſet apart ſolely to canvaſs for party or faction, but was equally open to all: He admitted, that private perſonal abuſe was wrong, but the public acts of government often demanded public ſcrutiny; that many, very many of the higheſt rank, as well as from the higheſt to the loweſt in the oppoſition, had been ſcandalouſly traduced and vilified in the public papers, with impunity; that, if the defendant was brought in guilty, the hands of every publiſher would be tied behind him, and the gentlemen not in office might, by the miniſterial ſcribblers, be abuſed to the groſſeſt degree, as it would be dangerous to anſwer them, if, upon the appearance of every free anſwer, informations were to be filed, and the printers convicted and puniſhed: The liberty of the preſs was immediately concerned, the ſtroke was levelled at it in this proſecution, but he did not doubt, the jury would maturely, deliberately, and attentively conſider the matter, read the letter with care and circumſpection, and, if they found it was not written with intent to vilify the perſon of the King, but freely to canvaſs the acts of government, they would conſider the publiſher as having done his fellow-ſubjects eſſential ſervice, and acquit him."

Mr. Serjeant Leigh, the other council for the defendant, then got up, and began with obſerving, that, after the very learned and able ſpeech made by his brother Glynn, little remained for him to ſay, but he particularly urged the jury to conſider the intention of the printer in publiſhing it, and to remember how particularly neceſſary it was, at this juncture, that the preſs ſhould be open to all political diſcuſſion. He defended the paper on the ſame principles as Mr. Glynn, and made a very eloquent and judicious harangue, concluding with declaring, that, as no intention could be proved, they ought not to find his client guilty.

Lord Mansfield, in his charge to the jury, ſaid, they had nothing to do with the intention, as the aggravation, or the extenuation of the fact, was a matter of future conſideration to him alone; but the words in the information, ſuch as malicious, ſeditious, &c. he aſſerted were all mere terms in law, and words of courſe, like as it is ſaid in an inſtrument for murder, that the perſon did, &c. at the inſtigation of the Devil: The fact of publication was ſufficiently proved; and he told the jury, as upon Mr. Almon's trial, that there were but two propoſitions for their conſideration, which were, the fact of publiſhing the paper, and whether the blanks in the paper were properly filled up in the information; and as to the contents of the paper, whether they were true or falſe, he ſaid, it was wholly immaterial.

Between eleven and twelve the jury withdrew: At four the court was adjourned; and about nine, the jury waited on Lord Mansfield, at his houſe in Bloomſbury-ſquare, with their verdict, which was---Guilty of printing and publiſhing, only.

The council on both ſides acquitted themſelves, throughout this important trial, with the utmoſt judgment and abilities; their ſpeeches on both ſides were eloquent, learned, and properly applied. One of the council for the defendant declared, if the letter was a libel, the drawer of the information had made it ſo, by filling up the blanks.

JUNE 15. Wedneſday a ſhip arrived in the river, commanded by Captain Scott, with returned goods from Boſton. Upon the above ſhip's arrival off Boſton, the greater part of the merchants, to whom the goods were conſigned, refuſed to have them ſtored, becauſe their right of taxation was not removed; but ſome conſented to take in their goods, which, it is ſuppoſed, will be their ruin, as few will deal with them. After the above goods were houſed, AN IMPORTER OF ENGLISH GOODS was wrote on the doors of ſuch as had taken them in, as a mark of contempt.

It is remarkable, that Lord Mansfield, in his charge to the jury, took occaſion to aſſert, "That Mr. Serjeant Glynn had maintained, that truth was very immaterial in any proſecution whatever for libels;" on which the Serjeant roſe, and, with much eagerneſs, declared, "That no ſuch declaration had ever been made by him; that he had only referred to what were denominated private libels, the truth was only of the utmoſt importance, but would ſerve fully to juſtify the party, and might be gone into every caſe, or how elſe ſhould the public be informed of what was moſt material for them to know, and in what they had an immediate intereſt, and ought to be informed."

JUNE 18. Friday the Right Honourable the Lords North and Holland, together with a certain great law officer, had a long conference with his Majeſty at the Queen's palace.

To-morrow a council is to be held at the Cockpit, Whitehall, on the ſubject, it is ſaid, of ſome important intelligence lately received from America.

It is rumoured that an entire new mode of government is to take place in the American part of the globe.

On Friday the Honourable Thomas Deblaſay, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor of the Iſland of St. John, in the Bay of Fundy, in America, ſet out from Piccadilly for Dublin, from whence he propoſes ſhortly to embark for his government.

The gentlemen who preſented the Surry Remonſtrance, complain of an ungracious reception. It was delivered to the King after the levee was over, who gave it to the lord in waiting. Mr. Onſlow was at the levee, and the King converſed with him a conſiderable time with great affability.

JUNE 20. On Monday ſome very important diſpatches arrived at the Secretary of State's office, from his Excellency General Gage, commander in chief of his Majeſty's land forces in North-America.

A report is current, that Lord Hillſborough will ſpeedily reſign the poſt of Secretary of State for the plantations.

A noble Lord, on whoſe judgment adminiſtration lays great ſtreſs, has ſtrenuouſly urged the neceſſity of repealing the American tea-act, and at the ſame time propoſed a meaſure which will be equally conciliating on both ſides.

It is expected that Sir John Wrotteſley, brother to her Grace the Dutcheſs of Graſton, will ſhortly aſſume an important office in adminiſtration.

Yeſterday morning Mr. Serjeant Glynn moved the court of King's-Bench for a new trial, in the cauſe of the King againſt John Almon, on an information ex officio, for only ſelling the London Muſeum, in which was reprinted a letter of Junius to the K--g, on two grounds; the firſt a miſdirection to, or miſapprehenſion of, the jury, appearing by the queſtion of Mr. Mackworth, as follows: Whether ſelling in the ſhop, by a ſervant, a pamphlet, without the knowledge, privity, or concurrence of the maſter in the ſale, or even without a knowledge of the contents of the libel or pamphlet ſo ſold, be ſufficient evidence to convict the maſter?

To which Lord Mansfield made the following anſwer, I have always underſtood, that evidence of a public ſale, or expoſual to ſale, in the ſhop, by a ſervant, or any body in the houſe, is prima facia evidence againſt the maſter.

Mr. Serjeant Glynn contended, that the queſtion clearly conveyed an idea that the jury were not ſatisfied that any proof at all had been made of guilt in the defendant; but Lord Mansfield ſaid, the queſtion was untruly ſtated, for that Mr. Mackworth admitted proof. Mr. Serjeant Glynn replied, that it did not appear from his note, which he had ſhewn to others, and believed to be accurately taken; nor did he think it could be ſo, from what he had heard (though he had not ſeen that gentleman) that Mr. Mackworth had ſaid ſince the trial. Lord Mansfield replied, "he ſhould not aſk Mr. Mackworth the queſtion."

The ſecond ground was the general propoſition, which Mr. Serjeant Glynn maintained was conſiſtent with the laws and rules of juſtice in this and every other country, that the mere proof of ſale in a ſhop or houſe, by a ſervant, or other perſon, could not, in a criminal proſecution, charge or convict the maſter.

Lord Mansfield's reply to Mr. Serjeant Glynn was no other than this: "The jury have only to do with the fact before them; the merits of which are to be determined by the court; and, upon recollection, it will be found, that all the members of the jury were clear in their verdict, except the foreman. However, take a rule to shew cause for a second trial."

The court accordingly granted a rule to shew cause on Monday next.

The verdict given by the jury on Mr. Woodfall's trial, is recorded in the very words delivered by the jury to Lord Mansfield.

JUNE 22. Yesterday after breaking up of the court at St. James's, Lord North, and the three Secretaries of State, had the honour of a conference with his Majesty.

The chiefs of the oppoſition hold conferences now, almoſt without intermiſſion, at Hayes; from whence ſomething extraordinary is expected ſoon to tranſpire.

Tueſday evening an expreſs was diſpatched from the Earl of Hilſborough's houſe in Hanover-ſquare, to his Excellency Sir Francis Bernard, Bart. at Hampſtead, in conſequence of which, his Excellency came to town the next morning, and had a long conference with his Lordſhip on affairs ſuppoſed to relate to his government.

We hear that the merchants and factors concerned in the cargoes lately returned from America, will be loſers about forty per cent. on the occaſion.

Lord Bute (till remains at a place near Verona, famous for its ſalutary ſprings, and is ſaid much better in health than he has been for a long time before, will not return to Britain ſoon.

At five o'clock yeſterday morning died, in the 65th year of his age, at his houſe in Soho-ſquare, the Right Hon. William Beckford, Eſq; Lord Mayor of London for the ſecond time, member in the three laſt parliaments for the ſame, Alderman of Billingſgate Ward, and Colonel of the White Regiment of Militia.---- As a citizen he was eminently decorated with the virtues of humanity and affability;---as a ſenator, watchful over the rights and liberties of the people;---and as a magiſtrate, unremittingly active in ſaving thoſe rights and liberties legally executed. If his Lordſhip's character could want any additional luſtre, it was the manner of his death; for notwithſtanding his having a heavy cold on him (which he acquired by walking in his garden at Fonthill the day before) ſo attentive was he to diſcharge the important duty committed to his truſt, as chief magiſtrate of this city, that he travelled an hundred miles in one day, which encreaſed his cold to a rheumatic fever, and thereby terminated the life of a man, whoſe character will ever be held in the moſt honourable and grateful remembrance.

At the common-hall held this day at Guildhall, for the choice of a Lord Mayor of this city, in the room of the Right Hon. William Beckford, Eſq; deceaſed, all the Aldermen below the chair, who had ſerved the office of Sheriff, were put up, and the livery returned, almoſt unanimouſly, the Aldermen Trecothick and Croſby, to the court of Aldermen for their choice of one, but a poll was demanded in favour of Sir Henry Banks, which began this afternoon at two o'clock.

At the common-hall, Richard Oliver, Eſq; was recommended as a fit and proper perſon to ſucceed the late Lord Mayor as one of the repreſentatives for this city in parliament.---It is likewiſe thought he will be choſen Alderman of Billingſgate ward, in the room of William Beckford, Eſq.

JUNE 23. The Right Hon. the late Lord Mayor of the city of London, William Beckford, Eſq; who died on Thurſday the 21ſt, was born in the year 1707. His Lordſhip lived a bachelor till the year 1756; and then married Mrs. March, relict of Francis March, Eſq; a grand-daughter of the Earl of Abercorn, and has left iſſue, viz. one ſon, born in the year 1760, to whom the late Earl of Effingham, the Earl of Chatham, and the Counteſs Dowager of Effingham, the late Lord Mayor's ſiſter, ſtood ſponſors; and we have the pleaſure to aſſure the public, that he is a very promiſing youth for his years, having an uncommon ſhare of underſtanding.

It is very remarkable, that Mr. Trecothick, (who it is ſuppoſed, will be choſen Mayor for the remainder of the year) ſucceeded to the Sheriffalty in the very ſame manner, viz. by the death of Mr. Errington, who was Sheriff of the city of London along with Paul Vallant, Eſq.

JUNE 25.

From the LONDON GAZETTE.

In purſuance of the directions of an act paſſed in the laſt ſeſſion of parliament, I do hereby give notice, that the death of the Right Hon. William Beckford, Eſq; late member of parliament for the city of London, hath been certified to me in writing, under the hands of two members of parliament; and that I ſhall iſſue my warrant to the clerk of the crown, to make out a new writ for the election of a citizen to ſerve in this preſent parliament, for the ſaid city of London, in the room of the ſaid Right Hon. William Beckford, Eſq; deceaſed, at the end of fourteen days after the inſertion of this notice in the Gazette. Dated the 22d of June, 1770.

FLETCHER NORTON, Speaker.

On Saturday ſome diſpatches arrived in town from his Exceſſency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

A Privy Council is ſummoned to meet To-morrow at the Cockpit, Whitehall.

The diſputes ſubſiſting between the King of Pruſſia and the States-General are likely to terminate in a rupture; the latter having abſolutely refuſed to comply with the demands of the former.

This day came on at Guildhall the election of two fit and proper gentlemen to ſerve the office of ſheriffs for the city of London, and county of Middleſex for the year enſuing. All the Aldermen below the chair, who had not ſerved that office, were put up in order, but no hands were held up for them, only their names were received with groans or plaudits, as they ſtood well or ill in the affections of the gentlemen preſent. At laſt Joſeph Martin, and William Baker, Eſqrs. were put up, when there was a general holding up of hands, which was followed by as general a plaudit, and they were declared duly elected to that office for the enſuing year.

Within this week (and never before in the memory of the eldeſt man) a patrole of the horſe guards has been appointed for the Strand, Piccadilly, Holbourn, and adjacent ſtreets.

JUNE 26. Mr. Fitzmaurice, Lieutenant-Governor of Grenada, has been recalled, and is expected home in the next ſhip from that iſland.

We hear that the trial between the Right Hon. George Onſlow, and the Rev. Mr. Horne, will come on at the next aſſizes at Guildford, and that no one of the jury will be choſen from the inhabitants of that town.

JUNE 27. Yeſterday a privy council met at the Cockpit, Whitehall, relative, it is ſaid, to ſome diſpatches received from the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Laſt week orders were given by the Lords commiſſioners of the admiralty, for ſome large maſt ſhips to be fitted out at Plymouth, to import American ſhip timber for the uſe of his Majeſty's dock-yards.

Saturday, as ſoon as the review was over, a very well dreſt man accoſted a great perſonage, as he was getting into his chaiſe, in the following manner:---"Sir! we love and honour you and all your family! but if you don't diſmiſs a ſet of wicked miniſters, you will certainly loſe the affections of your people."

Upon which the populace gave three huzzas, and the carriage drove off---but no reply.

At the cloſing of the poll yeſterday at Guildhall for Lord Mayor for the remainder of the year, the numbers ſtood thus:

Barlow Trecothick, Eſq;	1406
Braſs Croſby, Eſq;	1266
Sir Henry Banks,	387

This morning, about half an hour after ten, the caſe of Mr. Almon, Bookſeller, craving a new trial, came on before the court of King's-Bench, Weſtminſter, when Mr. Solicitor General ſpoke in behalf of the Crown; he was anſwered by Mr. Serjeant Glynn, and Mr. Leigh; to whom Mr. Solicitor General and Mr. Morton replied, and then Mr. Leigh again replied to theſe. In the courſe of the debate Serjeant Glynn offered to produce an affidavit from Mr. Mackworth, the Foreman of the Jury, ſetting forth, that he was not ſatisfied with reſpect to Mr. Almon's ſervant "ſelling the ſeditious pamphlet in queſtion with the privity, knowledge, and conſent of his maſter;" and if ſo, Mr. Almon could not be guilty of the crime laid to his charge. Mr. Juſtice Aſton obſerved, that though no man was anſwerable for the criminal actions of his ſervant, yet, in the caſe of a ſhopkeeper, the matter was otherwiſe, and it was the duty of every bookſeller to take a particular care, that nothing ſhould be ſold on his premiſes that was obnoxious, and without the verge of the law; that with regard to affidavits from jurymen, he looked upon the admitting of theſe to be of the moſt dangerous conſequence, as paving the way for endleſs litigation and debate. Lord Mansfield obſerved, that when Mr. Mackworth, the foreman of the Jury, put the queſtion, Whether a ſervant's ſelling a treaſonable pamphlet in a public ſhop, fixed the guilt upon the maſter? the eleven anſwered in the affirmative; ſo that in the whole Jury there was but one diſſenting voice. Mr. Serjeant Glynn was the laſt to ſpeak for the ſecond time upon the ſubject, in anſwer to Mr. Morton; by this time it was one o'clock, when the court refuſed the requeſt for a ſecond trial, and ſo the verdict ſtands confirmed. The ſeveral judges ſpoke with great propriety, and Mr. Juſtice Aſhhurſt obſerved, that if the motion was ſuſtained, then every bookſeller might, by ſuch ſubterfuges, eſcape, after ſetting the whole country in a flame.

A report prevails in the city, that application will very ſoon be made to government, by the principal merchants concerned in the trade to Penſacola, for troops and ammunition to ſecure that province againſt the refractory ſpirit of the Creek Indians, who have, within theſe few months, committed divers outrages, and declared themſelves under the protection of the Spaniards, and not under any obligation to the Engliſh.

By advices brought by a Spaniſh veſſel from the Havana in 40 days, we learn, that ſome ſhips had lately ſailed from that port for Cadiz, among which was the Pallas frigate, having on board the Sieur O'Reily, commander in chief of New-Orleans.

It is thought the Weſt-India merchants will be very much divided in their intereſt for member for this city, as Mr. Oliver is one of that body, and Mr. Alderman Naſh has the greateſt connections with them in trade of any merchant in London.

JUNE 30. The following is a genuine Copy of a Letter ſent by a Committee of the Supporters of the Bill of Rights to the Honourable the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly of South-Carolina, in Anſwer to the Letter from the Aſſembly of South-Carolina, (containing a Subſcription to the Society of Fifteen Hundred Pounds Sterling,) which was ſome Time ſince publiſhed in this Paper. The noble Spirit of univerſal Liberty and Benevolence which breathes throughout this Epiſtle muſt, we ſuppoſe, make it affecting to every Son of Freedom in every Quarter of the Globe.

To the Honourable the Commons Houſe of Aſſembly of South-Carolina.

Gentlemen,

"WE are directed by the Society, Supporters of the Bill of Rights, to tranſmit to you their Thanks for the very honourable Teſtimony you have at once given of your own Sentiments, and of your Approbation of their Conduct.

"The ſame Spirit of Union and mutual Aſſiſtance, which dictated your Vote in our Favour, animates this Society. We ſhall ever conſider the Rights of all our Fellow Subjects throughout the Britiſh Empire in England, Scotland, Ireland, and America, as Stones of one Arch on which the Happineſs and Security of the Whole are founded. Such would have been our Principle of Action if the Syſtem of Deſpotiſm, which has been adopted, had been more artfully conducted; and we ſhould as readily have aſſociated in the Defence of your Rights as our own had they been ſeparately attacked.

"But Providence has mercifully allotted to depraved Hearts weak Underſtandings: The Attack has been made by the ſame Men, at the ſame Time on both together, and will ſerve only to draw us cloſer in one great Band of mutual Friendſhip and Support.

"Whilſt the Norman Troops of the firſt William kept the Engliſh in Subjection, his Engliſh Soldiers were employed to ſecure the Obedience of the Normans. This Management has been too often repeated now to ſucceed.

"There was a Time when Scotland, though then a ſeparate and divided Nation, could avoid the Snare, and refuſed, even under their own Stuarts, to enſlave their ancient Enemies. The Chains which England and Scotland diſdained to forge for each other, England and America ſhall never conſent to furniſh.

"Property is the natural Right of Mankind; the Connection between Taxation and Repreſentation is its neceſſary Conſequence. This Connection is now broken, and Taxes are attempted to be levied both on England and America by Men who are not their reſpective Repreſentatives. Our Cauſe is one------our Enemies are the ſame. We truſt our Conſtancy and Conduct will not differ. Demands which are made without Authority ſhould be heard without Obedience.

"In this, and in every other conſtitutional Struggle on either Side of the Atlantic, we wiſh to be united with you; and are as ready to give, as to receive, Aſſiſtance.

"We deſire you, Gentlemen, to be perſuaded, that under all our domeſtic Grievances and Apprehenſions, the Freedom of America is our particular Attention; and theſe your public Act and ſolemn Engagement afford us a pleaſing Preſage, and confirm our Hopes, that when Luxury, Miſrule and Corruption ſhall at length, in Spite of all Reſiſtance, have deſtroyed this noble Conſtitution here, our Poſterity will not, like your gallant Anceſtors, be driven to an inhoſpitable Shore, but will find a welcome Refuge, where they may ſtill enjoy the Rights of Engliſhmen amongſt their Fellow Subjects, the Deſcendants and Brothers of Engliſhmen.

We are, Gentlemen, With the greateſt Reſpect,
Your moſt obedient Servants and Affectionate Fellow-Subjects,

Yeſterday Morning at Six o'Clock the Remains of the late Right Hon. William Beckford, Eſq; Lord Mayor of this City, were carried out of Town, from Soho-Square, in a Hearſe and Six, adorned with Eſcutcheons, Streamers, &c. which was followed by three Mourning Coaches and Six, attended by ten Horſemen. The Corpſe was to lie in State laſt Night at the place they put up at, and this Night; and To-morrow is to be interred at Fonthill.

The ſpirited Reply of the much-lamented Lord Mayor to his Majeſty, we hear, is to be engraved on the Pedeſtal of the Statue intended to his Memory.

Yeſterday at Noon the Poll for Lord Mayor finally cloſed, when the Numbers were, for Barlow Trecothick, Eſq; 1601; for Braſs Croſby, Eſq; 1434; and for Sir Henry Bankes, Knt. 437.

After the Declaration of the Numbers by the Sheriffs, Meſſ. Trecothick and Croſby were returned to the Court of Aldermen, who were ſitting, for their Choice of one of them, which fell upon Barlow Trecothick, Eſq. The Court of Aldermen then came upon the Huſtings, and the Recorder declared Mr. Alderman Trecothick duly elected Lord Mayor of this City for the Remainder of the Year.

The Lord Mayor Elect, after being inveſted with the Gold Chain, addreſſed the Livery, and ſaid, he wiſhed their Choice had fallen on the Gentleman next in Rotation; but, as they had done him the Honour to elect him, he would regularly attend to the Duties of his Office, and endeavour, during his Mayoralty, faithfully and impartially to adminiſter Juſtice, to preſerve the Rights and Privileges of the City, and, in the whole of his Conduct, to be determined by a due Regard to the Laws of his Country; and that he hoped they would all, to the utmoſt of their Power, ſtrive to prevent ſuch Diſorder and Tumult, as muſt tend to diſturb the State, and do Hurt to every Member the Community. His Speech received the univerſal Approbation of the Livery, who teſtified their Approbation by loud Acclamations.

At Two o'Clock the Lord Mayor Elect, attended by the Aldermen Stephenſon, Croſby, Peers, Halifax, Shakeſpear, Kennett, Wilkes, Bird, the Recorder, the Sheriffs, City Remembrancer, and Town-Clerk, went to the Lords Commiſſioners of the Great-Seal for his Lordſhip to be preſented to them for Approbation; which having received, they returned to Guildhall, where the Lord Mayor was ſworn in, and the City Regalia delivered to him; after which his Lordſhip and the Aldermen went to the Manſion-Houſe, where an elegant Entertainment was provided for them.

Yeſterday the two vacant Red Ribbands were diſpatched to Portſmouth to be ſent in his Majeſty's Ship the Dolphin, to the Eaſt-Indies; one of which is given to Sir John Lyndſey, Commander in Chief of two Frigates in thoſe Seas, with the Appointment of Rear-Admiral. Sir John Lyndſey (happily for him) has the Honour to be Nephew to Lord Mansfield.

Three Councils have been held this Week, chiefly concerning the late Diſturbances at Boſton.

It is ſaid that there is at preſent great Jealouſies ſubſiſting among the Officers of the Navy, and it is thought the late Diſpoſal of one of the vacant Red Ribbands will much increaſe them.

We hear that Mr. Trecothick is determined to adopt the ſame Meaſures as his worthy Friend the late Lord Mayor.

We hear the M------y have not yet fixed on a Perſon for Chancellor.

According to the Advices received by this Day's Mail, there is all the Reaſon in the World to expect a ſpeedy Engagement between the Ruſſians and the Turks, General Romanzow being advanced as far as the River Pruth, General Panin, being actually in the Environs of Bender, and the Grand Viſir, with the Troops under his Command, having paſſed the Danube at Iſaccia. In the mean Time the Army of the latter is ſaid to be much more conſiderable than laſt Year; but his Troops are greatly diſpirited by the Death of his Brother, chief Commander of the Spahis, who died ſuddenly in the Camp. The Turkiſh Fleet has paſſed Gallipoli, and anchored in the Gulf of Engia; and Admiral Spirithoff having been joined by the Squadron under Rear Admiral Elphinſtone, is ſailed to meet them.

This Day the new Lord Mayor, (Mr. Alderman Trecothick) attended by ſeveral of the Aldermen, and the Sheriffs Townſend and Sawbridge, with the City-Officers carrying the Regalia, went in State to Weſtminſter-Hall, and was ſworn in before the Barons of the Exchequer, after which his Lordſhip paid his Compliments to the ſeveral other Courts of Law who were ſitting, and then returned in the ſame State to the Manſion-Houſe, where an elegant Entertainment was provided on the Occaſion.

The Carolina Society, Bowery, is ſailed from Briſtol for Teneriffe and Georgia.

BOSTON, JULY 16.

We are well aſſured that a Gentleman of Eminence, has diſcovered ſo much Sollicitude to have a certain Point carried, as even to apply in Perſon to the Members of the politicel Club in Cambridge; promiſing them individually, that if they will come into the Meaſure, they ſhall have Leave from L---d H------ to ſet up their Club the enſuing Winter in this Metropolis------But at preſent he has no greater Shard in the Confidence of the Members than his Predeceſſor had, ſcarce much.---He flatters himſelf however, that if he purſues Points with the ſame Aſſiduity, he ſhall have the Approbation of the Lordſhip, and be rewarded with a Penſion worth keeping, whether he ſucceeds or not.

We hear that the People in New-Jerſey and Connecticut, in general, all over thoſe Governments are in Motion, to form Reſolutions ſimilar to Philadelphia; and it is apprehended every Government where we have any Connections, will act in the like Manner.

At a Meeting of the Freeholders and other Inhabitants of the Pariſh of Rye, in the Province of New-Hampſhire, July 16th, 1770-----Conſidering the Grievances, and unconſtitutional Burthens, under which theſe Colonies are labouring, it was unanimouſly Determined as follows.

1. We highly approve of the ſpirited and general Conduct of the People of Boſton, and that whole Province, and others in the great Cauſe of Liberty.

2. Reſolved, To unite with them in the Non-Importation Agreement.

3. Reſolved, That we will not Trade with ſuch in this Province as ſhall import Goods contrary to the Spirit and Deſign of the Agreement of Non-Importation in the other Provinces, till a general Importation takes Place.

After which a Committee of Correſpondence was choſen to acquaint the Committee in Boſton with their Reſolves.

AUGUST 6. Laſt Thurſday Evening the Rev. Mr. Whitefield arrived at Newport from New-York.

We hear that in and near the Town of Hatfield the People have lately ſuffered greatly by an uncommon Storm of Hail, which deſtroyed much Grain, &c.

NEW-YORK, August 6.

Extract of a Letter from Boston.

"Many here are real Englishmen, whose true Characteristick is to behave best in the worst of Times, and rise in Proportion to the Force intended to depress them.---We shall by no Means break the Agreement---Some Gentlemen here, have a Scheme in Contemplation, which, to me promises much; i. e. setting up Shops to take in Things from the Country at a moderate Price, and vending to those who want them.---------By this Encouragement of a certain Market will be considerable, and the Merchants, in a little Time, will find what Kinds of Manufactures have the best Vent, and can order them accordingly.

"It must be by such Means that Thousands of inland Towns are maintained, many of whom are opulent and flourishing."

"In the Course of the last Week, we have had excessive hot Weather, and we are told, that five Persons have died here during that Time, by inadvertently drinking cold Water when they were over-heated.

"A Duel has lately been fought, at Pensacola, between Lieut. Hall and Ensign Litchfield, both of the 16th Regiment, in which the former received a Ball in one of his Legs, which wounded, it was feared, would prove mortal.

PHILADELPHIA, August 2.

On Tuesday, the 24th ult. died, after a short Illness, Mr. Alexander Lunan, who, for many Years, supported the Character of a reputable Merchant in this City.-----His Integrity in Trade, and courteous Behaviour to Strangers, renders his Death a public Loss. The next Day his Remains were decently interred in St. Peter's Church Burying-Ground, attended by a Number of the reputable Inhabitants, who lament the Loss of so worthy a Citizen.

A Gentleman from Fort Pitt, we learn, that about a Fortnight ago an Express arrived there from the Illinois, which brought Account, that Silver Heels, a noted Indian Warrior, was killed by an Indian, called Pluggee, near that Place; and that he was buried with all the Honours of War, his Funeral being attended by all the Inhabitants, and the Indians of different Nations for many Miles round.

Extract of a Letter, dated Wilmington, Cape-Fear, June 26.

"The Sons of Liberty here have lately received a Letter from their Brethren in South-Carolina, the Purport of which is, to advise us to keep strictly to our Resolutions of purchasing no more European Goods, but a few coarse Articles, according to our Agreement entered into last Fall; but this had been resolved on, even as we received an Account of the partial Repeal of the Revenue Act, provided our Sister Colonies joined. I hope your Merchants have adopted the Measure also. If I was to give my Opinion, I do not think the Revenue Act more oppressive, than the Act of Trade, whereby the Americans are deprived of Trial by Juries, and made subject to the arbitrary Decrees of a Court of Admiralty.

"The Rhode-Islanders are Apostates.---We have had no late Accounts from Home, God send every Thing may be settled for the Benefit of the whole Empire.---Lord Chatham has again stepped forth in the Cause of Liberty. The Protests of the Lords, especially the second, are inimitable.

"Our Assembly is not to meet till November, and our Governor has Leave to absent himself from his Government for one Year; he goes Home next Spring."

Extract of a Letter, dated Wilmington, Cape-Fear, July 16.

"Inclosed is our last Paper, you will find we have received no Accounts from England. An Express went through this Place some Days ago, with Dispatches from Governor Botetourt of Virginia, to our Governor, and the Lieutenant-Governor of South-Carolina; the Intention of which (as the Man informed us) was to notify to the Southern Provinces, that a Number of Indians had destroyed 20 or 30 Families on the back Parts of Virginia. If this is a Fact, we shall soon have Employment in our Province. It would have given us much more Pleasure to have heard of a War with France and Spain, than with those Rascals! Be so kind as to inform me, whether the Sons of Liberty in your Province intend to adhere strictly to the Non-importation Agreement, until the Revenue Acts are totally repealed? God forbid the Point should now be given up. I hope our Countrymen have more Virtue and Firmness, than to bow their Necks at last to the Yoke, after making so noble a Stand. Perseverance, and Success (I doubt not) will attend our Endeavours!"

CHARLESTOWN, August 28.

PURSUANT to an Advertisement of the General Committee, published in our last, there was on Wednesday last, a full Meeting of the Inhabitants, at LIBERTY-HALL, who, after chusing JOHN HUGER, Esq; Chairman for the Day, entered on the Business for which they were called together, but not being able to go through the same that Afternoon, they adjourned to Three o'Clock in the Afternoon of the next Day, when they accordingly met, and came to the following RESOLUTIONS, viz.

I. That the Resolutions entered into by the Inhabitants of the Colonies, against the Importation of Goods from Great-Britain, were safe, peaceable and constitutional; and if persisted in, we have the strongest Reason to believe, would be productive of every salutary Purpose designed by them; and therefore ought to be considered as an irresistable Barrier against every Assault upon our Liberties.

II. That the Breach of the Agreement for Non-Importation of Goods from Great-Britain, by the Merchants and Traders in New-York, is a scandalous Revolt from the common Cause of Freedom; by which Proceeding, they have attempted to weaken the Union, and sully the Character of America, villified their own Reputations, and given the strongest Temptations in their Power to our unfeeling Enemies to prosecute their malicious Design of enslaving our Country.

III. That should the present Ministerial Plot against our common Liberty be accomplished; or should this Bait thrown out by New-York, give Encouragement for a more extensive Plan to destroy every constitutional Right; whatever Fatality may happen in Consequence thereof, ought to be chargeable principally to the Defection of a prevailing Party in that City.

IV. That in Order to declare to the World our Detestation of that abominable Measure entered into by that prevailing Party, we will break off all commercial Intercourse and Dealings with New-York, until they properly Atone for their treacherous Duration from their Countrymen, by returning to their former Agreement, and re-shipping the Goods imported contrary thereto, to the Places from whence they came. Provided, that except in Cases where Goods have been ordered which cannot be countermanded, every Inhabitant of this Province who has Effects at New-York, may have Liberty to remove them from thence in Cash or Bills of Exchange only.

V. That the Resolutions entered into by this Province against the Colonies of Rhode-Island and Georgia on the 27th of June shall not extend to Vessels which were at least one half loaded in this Province at that Time, so far as to prevent their entering our Ports in Ballast, to load with the Commodities of this Country, for any other Ports not excepted to by our Resolutions.

VI. That all European and East-India Goods hereafter brought into this Province contrary to the General Resolutions, from any Place whatever, shall not be stored, but immediately re-shipped, to the Places from whence they were imported.
